ALL SORTS.

—Lung Protectors at Thaxter's Drug Store.

—For cold feet, get a Hot Water Bag at Thaxter's.

—Wm. Hy. Doane is confined to his house with erysipelas.

—George W. Cassidy announces himself a candidate for Congress this Fall.

—The box-sheet for Nellie Boyd in "Passion's Slave" is now open at Tobriner's.

—Hon C. H. E. Hardin, of Mason Valley, is understood to be a candidate for the Lyon County State Senatorship on the Democratic ticket.

—There has been a dynamite explosion in Rhode Island that shook up the whole State. Rhode Island is too small a place to store explosives.

—The Paradise Valley Mining Company has levied an assessment of 10 cents per share, the first assessment in five years, during which period the Company has paid eleven dividends.

—For more than forty years, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been successfully prescribed in cases of consumption. This medicine always affords great relief in pulmonary diseases. Ask your druggist for it.

—The new timecard on the Central Pacific goes into effect next Sunday, but the only change is in the arrival of the evening eastern-bound train. Under the new arrangement it will arrive at 9:50 and leave at 10 o'clock. —Reno Journal.

—A clear skin adds to the beauty of a fine face, and often lends a charm to homeliness. To beautify your complexion, you should purify your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. As a tonic and alterative medicine, it has no equal. Price $1. Six bottles, $5.

—Congressmen are warmly debating the question as to whether Chaplain Milburn intended to be sarcastic when in his prayer at the opening of the House on Friday he asked divine help for men who violate the laws of health by overwork. Last year Chaplain Milburn's originality gave him a national reputation, and there was evidence that he now and then poked a little dignified fun at Congress. As Congress has now been in session a month and has accomplished nothing, there is reason to believe that the chaplain's words of Friday were mildly ironical.

—Governor Swineford of Alaska has written an expose to Washington in regard to the vast monopoly and tyranny exercised by the Alaska Fur Company towards the native Indians. If he can prove his charges it is about time that Congress should overhaul such a corporation. William Woodburn has been appointed chairman of the investigation committee and he has a great opportunity to serve with distinction in checking octopus monopoly grasping in its coils all competing firms. He has the power to do a great and lasting good for the inhabitants of "Seward's Folly."

Stood the Cold.

Herman Springmeyer was in the city yesterday purchasing more land to plant espercet on. The late cold snap did not affect his espercet, and his confidence is strengthened.

CUSTER POST BANQUET.

A Genial Entertainment Given to the Visiting Comrades from San Francisco.

Last evening Custer Post, G. A. R., of this city, gave a very hospitable entertainment to their visiting comrades from San Francisco, at Armory Hall.

The visitors from the Bay consisted of Gen. E. S. Salomon, Department Commander; T. S. Taylor, Assistant Adjutant General on Salomon's staff; T. H. Bacon, Adjutant of the Geo. H. Thomas Post, and a member of the Council of Administration of the California Department; C. D. Boskowitz, Division Inspector of Gen. Salomon's staff.

The banquet took place at Armory Hall, and was the regular camp fire banquet of Custer Post. It was served on tin plates, the old fashioned way; knives, forks and spoons, and was the regulation pork and beans and hard tack, flanked with coffee and sandwiches, with cakes and salads furnished by the ever-ready hands of the Ladies' Relief Corps.

The address of welcome was delivered by Post Commander Hanford, and responded to be Gen. Salomon.

Hanford was as modest as a lily of the field, and Salomon was in all his glory. Both the gentlemen's remarks were vigorously applauded by the large audience.

As the APPEAL goes to press the festivities consisting of good cheer, speeches, toasts and recitations, are still in progress.

In the afternoon the comrades from San Francisco were taken about the city, and Frank McCullough tendered them a rockaway to take them to the State Prison, where they spent two hours viewing the prehistoric tracks.

The Posts of Reno and Virginia City were represented at the camp fire.

A large crowd of ladies graced the occasion, and it was by all odds the happiest event of the kind in the history of the Post.

The Public Building and Indian School.

A short time since, Mr. H. M. Yerington, after taking considerable pains to ascertain the space needed by U. S. officials in the building projected and the means of procuring necessary building materials, wrote a voluminous letter on the subject to Senator Stewart, and yesterday received the following satisfactory reply:

UNITED STATES SENATE,
WASHINGTON, January 22, 1888.

H. M. YERINGTON, Esq., Carson City, Nevada—My Dear Sir: Your admirable letter of the 13th instant, in regard to the Public Building at Carson, is just received. I have sent it to the Supervising Architect, and will follow it with a personal visit immediately. The Architect can see from your letter that a building can be constructed at Carson at a reasonable expense in a good and substantial manner, and that there are no insurmountable difficulties in the way.

Your letters in regard to our Indian School were both received with the map, and referred to the Senate Committee on Indian Affairs. The Committee assure me that they will recommend the appropriation, and, inasmuch as the Committee on Indian Affairs heartily approve of the plan, I feel quite certain that we will have the school. Yours, truly,
WM. M. STEWART.

For sale by George C. Thaxter, agent Carson.

No Sugar Trust.

A man who had heard about the "sugar trust" attempted to get a dollar's worth at a grocery store in this city, but was informed that no "sugar trust" had been organized here yet.

—The ladies of the Episcopal Church will hold a pleasant social at the residence of the Rector on Thursday evening. Friends and acquaintances invited.

ANOTHER CONFESSION.

Anschlag Says He Killed His Victim in the Barn and Not in the Wagon.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30th.—Anschlag has made another confession, which differs very materially from the first one he made. In his last one he says he killed Hitchcock in the barn instead of the wagon. He knocked him down with a hatchet, and then taking an ax struck him several times. At this time, he says, Mrs. Hitchcock was shaking the table cloth when he struck her on the head with the hatchet, and when she fell he dragged her to the barn, and struck her several times with the ax. He then put both in the wagon, and taking two spades along, drove to the place where they were buried, dug the hole and put the bodies into it. It was nearly daylight when he finished burying them. This statement he signed in the presence of three witnesses.

It is now believed that Anschlag is a married man, as an envelope has been found with "Mrs. Fritz Anschlag, Bangor Butte county," written on it.

Anschlag has paid a lawyer $80 retainer, and still has about $30 or $40 left. This he seems to want to spend, as he yesterday complained of the jail fare and said he wanted some delicacies for which he would pay. He is much more cheerful than he was at first.

THE ALLEGED HUMORISTS.

Early morning caller—Where is your auntie, Alice? Alice—She is upstairs in her nightgown, looking over the baluster.—Life.

Which is preferable after all, the polite, accomplished, bogus English lord, or the genuine lord who acts like a bore?—Puck.

Jimpson—I'm gawing to Europe next week. Can I do anything for you ovaw theah, deah boy? Gimpson—No, going's enough, thanks. —Town Topics.

The average club-man cares very little about music. If he can only strike the key of the door with reasonable accuracy he is content. —Burlington Free Press.

Artist—Where are you going to take dinner? Author—Oh, I'm not particular. Wherever you do. Artist—Well, I was going to take it with you.—Judge.

An ambiguous compliment: If you use my mixture once, said a patent-medicine man, I'm sure you will never use any other. No, was the reply, I don't suppose I ever would.—Judge.

Wose, deah, tell me—ah—did you make a memowanda of the—ah—wemark I made to you when I was here befoah? No, Charlie, I didn't. That's dweadful, 'cause, don't yer know, I cawn't wecollect myself whether I wposued to you or Clawa.—Whitehall Times.

The Gazette Contempt Case.

John Dormer one of the proprietors of the Gazette who was arrested for contempt of Court for comments on the Henderson rape case, was discharged from custody on Monday.

Judge Bigelow, in summing up, stated that the Gazette, by publishing the proceedings of the preliminary examination before Justice Young, had put the county to great expense in securing a jury. The Court further stated that in issuing the warrant of attachment it had been actuated by the best of feeling, but, while admiring the Gazette as a newspaper, though that owing to the gravity of the case, something should be done, if only to make an example so that in the future the newspapers will have a precedent by which to be guided. In conclusion the Judge purged Mr. Dormer of contempt and ordered the case to be dismissed.

It looks as if the District Attorney was over-officious in the matter. As to the difficulties of securing juries where a newspaper of large circulation is published, that difficulty can easily be obviated by doing away with the foolish methods of Court procedure that excludes an intelligent newspaper reader from the jury box.

—Miss Flora Finlayson, of Reno, will graduate from the Boston Conservatory of Music on the 6th of April.
